AluSlimLine

MeConfig

The configuration of the service parameters takes place exclusively with the use of the notebook and the MeConfig software causing that the assembly of the entire system becomes easy and fast, while the configuration does not pose any problem even for an inexperienced installer.

NC Connect

The new Anti ShopLifting Systems from the AluSlimLine (ASL) family may also play the role of the advertising poster after placing advertising panels on it, and their replacement is easy, fast and does not require any tools.

CounterView

A completely new line of AluSlimLine (ASL) products, based on the modern industrial design, has been developed particularly for operation with the MECO state-of-the-art digital electronics. Owing to the application of the network technology, our customers may take advantage of the capability of connecting all the hardware from the NQ Connect family to the computer, and owing to the CounterView proprietary software, they may take advantage of the number of statistical and service functions.
